Looking back,
I gazed at the path I had made in the sand.
And I thought,
about myself,
about the paths I had walked,
and the new direction
I was heading.

And suddenly,
I realized . . .
how small I was,
and how insecure I was,
and how big the world was—
and how lonely the new path was;
and I wanted to turn back.

But as I turned and looked back . . .
the wind had blown out my tracks.
So I walked on forward,
and didn't look back again.

We ourselves
change;
Change, indeed
is painful;
yet ever
needful.

OVID

Change is a common human destiny. We move toward a consideration of our basic human attitudes with the hope of developing a criterion to distinguish between the real and the unreal, the important and the unimportant, the strong and the weak, the dependent and the independent, in our search for truth. As the dividing lines of our world begin to fall, may that change reflect a common human concern for the condition, the status, the worth, and the dignity of all people in all lands. As the lives of women change, so change the lives of nations. Our priorities must be seen in the context of a world society where all people can be heard. Our decisions today affect the total inhabitants of the planet, at a time when there are changes in the relationships of the people and the cultures of the world. Perhaps the age of the nation is past. What claims, then, do the members of the world family make upon us?

DR. SANDRA C. THOMAS

Two roads diverge in a wood, and I—I took the one less traveled by,
and that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST

When I was younger it was plain

Thought without learning is way.

JIM CROCE

Yes, I did look back again.

IN GRATEFUL APPRECIATION

Having been at Meredith only since 1971, she has already earned a permanent place in the hearts of students, faculty, and administration alike. Beginning as a physical education instructor, this dedicated and concerned young woman soon extended her vast energy and talents to all areas of student activity. She currently holds the title of Director of Student Activities, while still retaining some PE classes.

Having earned her BS and Masters degrees in Physical Education, she is personally interested in all of Meredith's many athletic activities. She is also a member of several professional organizations and is active in many athletic activities throughout the state and the southeast. As one of her many duties as Director of Student Activities, she serves as a second advisor to all campus clubs, helping officers over financial hurdles as well as offering needed advice on myriads of club problems, both large and small.

She has introduced several welcome changes in policy and especially in attitudes at Meredith. This one interested and energetic young woman has done much to close the gap between students and the administration, earning the respect and admiration of all who have the opportunity to work with her. She has recently conducted an assertive training workshop over several weeks for interested Meredith faculty. One of the main problems focused on in these meetings was the means for the teacher's arousal of student interest and participation in class and campus activities. Throughout her years at Meredith, she has emphasized the importance of student-conducted activities and programs.

Personally, her warmth and listening ear have been greatly appreciated by many Meredith students, who think of her not only as an excellent teacher, a thoughtful advisor, an energetic helper, but also as a loved and trusted friend.

In grateful appreciation for her past influence on and for her continued leadership and support of the whole Meredith community, we proudly dedicate this 1975 Oak Leaves to Mrs. Frances Vandiver.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

"Have you seen President Weems recently?" ... Meredith College's first woman V.P. ... towels, sheets and more towels ... swamping business office to get receipts ... Mr. Taylor's ice sculptures ... deserts, deserts, deserts ... dash to registrar's office to sign for classes ... new salad bar ... which rises faster—tuition or inflation? ... sing-a-longs with Lynn and friends ... such full trash cans every day ... signing up for use of school car ... hallways full of flu patients ... friday night, 6 p.m.: smoking switchboard ... parking—one big problem ... determining college calendar ... parking tickets ... sneaking book lists to the room to add the horrible total ... worship service conducted by campus minister ... placement office helps with senior job applications ... advice of the guidance counselor ... those many people behind the scene.

CLASSES

SENIORS

Senior class officers, from left to right: Sherri McGee, vice-president; Susan Webster, secretary; Jo Ann Williford, president; and Lee Pennington, treasurer.

The last registration—
thank goodness ...
finally winning Corn Huskin' and stunt ... getting leads in the plays ... crossed fingers during graduation audits ...
endless nights in the library for one dumb
seminar paper ...
catching a man ...
cutting classes for interviews ... burning up in those gowns at Founder's Day ...
student teaching—oh
those headaches ...
planning showers and weddings ... the President's dinner ...
deciding how to dress
the class doll ... last will and testament ...
saying goodbyes to little sisters ... hoping the rain will stop
before graduation ...
and finally, reflecting on the past years at Meredith.

JUNIORS

Class Officers: President, Pam Watson; Vice President, Bethany Langdon; Secretary, Carolyn Willey; Treasurer, Doris Taylor.

Welcome to the Angel Farm transfers! Why didn't we transfer, too?! ... we're Big Sisters now ... Juniors strive for the stars, achieving major roles in "Applause" and "Blithe Spirit" ... a Junior yearbook editor ... service project volunteers ... Freshmen hall proctors and various club offices ... we put some life into the "Spirit of '76" (cause that's what we are) and came up with a second place in Cornhuskin' 74 ... remember the Pizza Hut? (some of us probably don't) ... Bill Deal and the Rondels ... and finally we arrive at our Senior year.

SOPHOMORES

Class Officers: President, Kathy Christian; Vice President, Lynn Royster; Secretary, Suzanne Styron; Treasurer, Peggy Beale.

The first year as hall proctors ... declaring a major, any major ... serving as Student Advisers ... SDH on weekends ... only one more semester of English ... those awful waterfights with the Freshmen ... early rising to pick flowers for Class Day daisy chain ... the last year in the old dorms ... good-bye to our Big Sisters ... thoughts of transferring ... and Sophomore "slump" strikes again!

REGISTRATION

Conferences with “your friend” the faculty advisor ... “to take or not to take”
... thinking you’d
never be able to work
it out; and maybe you didn’t and ended up at the panic table ... and maybe some tears ...
a day to pursue and forget.

ORIENTATION

"The freshman experience" ... new people ... crying goodbyes ... chicken picnic ... know your handbook and hall proctor nights ... meeting the president in that eye-aweing mansion ... that long week of places to be that seemed to never end ... exploring the new ... lights out ... calldowns already? ... expectation ... all the great new friends ... and eventually how fast everything falls in place

CORNHUSKIN'

Water fights ... candied apples ... cheers ... "Juniors stand to you" ... parade ... hog calling ... tall tales ... corn husking ... songs ... our distinguished faculty: The Mickey Mouse Club ... Stewart's serenade ... the Seniors finally came alive with the Juniors taking a close second place ... those naive little freshmen really showed their talents to come in third ... poor Sophs ... Seniors honored Carmelleta Pope ... Juniors broke all records ... along with the fads, so went the Sophs ... while the Freshmen played with their toys ... a sampling of Meredith's togetherness under Ginger "the great pumpkin" Kimball's direction.

CHRISTMAS

December was the month for waiting 'til Christmas . . . running around as Secret Santas . . . decorating your first tree away from home . . . biting your nails over getting a date to the fantastic Christmas dance . . . drooling over the Christmas dinner . . . decorating your door with snow, even though there wasn't any outside . . . listening to Meredith's Chorus and Ensemble sing in the rotunda . . . caroling to the faculty . . . horrible exam week: what a way to get in the Christmas spirit . . . but alas, home you go to a wonderful holiday.

MERRY

210

Character, leadership, service, involvement . . . something to go with you the rest of your life . . . being a leader with the intelligence to match . . . screening and recommendations . . . a terrific honor.

PLAYS

Tryouts . . . practice, practice, and more practice . . . memorizing . . . chasing the music majors out of the auditorium . . . painting . . . hammering . . . locating costumes and male leads . . . coordinating acting and singing . . . missed cues . . . forgetting lines . . . organizing the table lift . . . straightening out the chorus . . . timing the sound effects . . . long hours of rehearsal for both "Applause" and "Blithe Spirit" were rewarded with large audiences and good reviews.

STUNT

Lots of committee meetings ... dreaming up a theme ... long hours writing scripts ... searching for props ... designing costumes
... finding enough interested people ... a few rehearsals ...
and hope for the best.

PLAY DAY

Fun-filled merriment . . . beautiful spring weather . . . Duke and Duchess won by Dr. Huber and Shearon Roberts . . . every kind of race imaginable . . . bridge . . . pool . . . three-legged race . . . hop scotch . . . jacks . . . jump rope . . . hula hoop . . . paddle ball . . . tug of war . . . softball . . . croquet . . . challenges galore . . . demonstrated coordination? . . . triumphant Vann . . . tired and happy everyone concluded the day with a picnic in the court.

April 19-20 ... the time for parents to really see their "little angels" in action ... open house ... fashion show ... horse show ... gymnastics and Aqua-Angels shows ... presentation of the Spring Queen and her court ... a delicious banquet ... students, parents, faculty and administration enjoyed the fun-filled weekend.

Outstanding Seniors: Top Row (L-R): Sue Tripp, Susan Wood, Debbie Kizer, Sheryl Harrell, Ginny Rogers. Bottom Row (L-R): Susan Webster, Kathy Fuller, Jane Hartley, Sharon Dukeshire, Jo Ann Williford.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

Leaders in their class ...
chosen by their classmates
... officers ... behind-the-scenes workers ...
committee chairpersons
... organizers ...
enthusiasm ... diligence
... active participants in the Meredith community
... What would we do without such dedicated leaders?

JUNIOR-SENIOR

CLASS DAY

Reunions of past classes . . . little sisters will twine daisies and ivy to outline the '75 on the island . . . Seniors' songs and history . . . last will and testament . . . election of permanent class officers . . . a happy day, but in some ways sad.

GRADUATION

Getting up for baccalaureate
... dinner with family and friends ...
hoping it won't rain ... those hot gowns ...
